About

The board briefing condenses the AI governance and AI company transformation masterclasses into two hours. It gives the board oversight of the AI company transformation, a clear sense of how to govern it, and a realistic view of what to expect from the executing organization. Directors owe the company a duty of care in what they decide and advise on; the briefing helps them meet it for AI.

Contents

Why AI, why now
What has changed, and why it reaches the boardroom.

Governing the AI company transformation
The board's oversight role, drawn from the AI governance masterclass.

What to expect from the executing organization
How a transformation is structured and led, drawn from the AI company transformation masterclass.

How it works

1. Before. We agree the board's context and priorities with the chair or the company secretary. Directors can take the personal fluency check beforehand once it opens.
2. The session. A 2-hour briefing in your boardroom or online, with time for the board's questions.
3. After. Presented materials and templates are shared. Optional recordings and transcripts are agreed with participants.
